Introduction

Buying your first home is hard, but there's never been more government assistance available.

The trick is making sure you don't miss out on any of the grants, waivers, exemptions or concessions available because you bought the wrong type of property, in the wrong price range, or in the wrong location.

Let First National Real Estate help you understand what the rules are right across Australia, so you don't miss out on a single cent.

Federal Government Assistance Summary

HOME GUARANTEE SCHEME

Comprised of three initiatives, the Home Guarantee Scheme supports eligible buyers to purchase a home sooner.

First Home Buyer Guarantee (FHBG)

For first home buyers without a 20% deposit (subject to bank lending assessment)

Buy a new home with 5% minimum deposit

35,000 places for financial year 2023/24

Price caps apply

Restricted to new home builds and completed stock

Individual and joint applicants

Avoid paying mortgage insurance

Government guarantees 15% difference

Regional First Home Buyer Guarantee (RFHBG)

Supporting eligible regional first home buyers to purchase a home in a regional area. As with the above program but with a limit of 10,000 places for financial year 2023/24. Access the Regional Checker to find out if the postcode you are considering is eligible.

Family Home Guarantee (FHG)

Supporting eligible single parents with at least one dependent child to buy a home, whether that single parent is a first home buyer or a previous home owner.

As little as 2% deposit required without the need to pay Lenders Mortgage Insurance

5,000 places for financial year 2023/24

First home buyers or previous homeowners are eligible

Individual and joint applicants

New and existing homes

Single parent or legal guardian with at least one dependent child

Maximum purchase prices apply

First Home Super Saver Scheme

The first home super saver (FHSS) scheme allows people to save money for their first home inside their super fund. From 1 July 2017, you can make voluntary concessional (before-tax) and voluntary non-concessional (after-tax) contributions into your super fund to save for your first home. From 1 July 2018, you can then apply to release your voluntary contributions, along with associated earnings, to help you purchase your first home.

Salary sacrifice up to $15,000 per year into Super (up to a total of $50,000 across all years, from 1

July 2022)

Taxed on withdrawal with 30% tax offset

No income test

Effectively allows saving for home deposit at 15% tax rate

FAQs

Q. How do I work out what I can afford to spend on my first home?

A. What you can afford to spend is obviously determined by government grants, your current income and financial commitments as well as your savings and credit history.

You should carefully consider your current and future living expenses so you'll be assured you can repay your loan and maintain the quality of lifestyle you'll require. Once you know this, you can start talking to mortgage brokers and they will quickly give you an idea of what your buying budget will be.

Click for more

Q. How should I start my first home search?

A. We recommend you visit www.firstnational.com.au where you will find our answers to the most common questions about buying your first home. Don't be shy though; if you don't see the answer to your specific question, just click the 'get in contact' link under our main menu and send us your question.

Most people start their search with an image of the property they would like to buy in their mind. Frequently they have a short list of suburbs they're interested in as well.

Click for more

Q. What questions should I ask a real estate agent about a property I'm interested in?

A. You should absolutely ask if there are any known issues with the property, such as mould, pest infestations, or structural problems. That's just for starters.

You should also ask if there are any Material Facts that buyers would want to be aware of. Agents are required, by law, to inform you of any fact that you would reasonably want to know about before buying. This could include things like whether somebody has died in the property, whether there's any history of illegal activity or violent crime, or whether there are any problem neighbours nearby.

Click for more

Q. How do I make an offer on a house that's for sale?

A. There are two ways.

An unconditional offer is when you offer an amount to buy the house as listed (with or without drapes, fixtures, etc.) without adding or negotiating any other conditions. Ask the agent for a copy of The Contract of Sale as it outlines everything that is included and specifies anything that is not.

Click for more

Q. How do I make an offer on a house that's going to auction?

A. You can either turn up to the auction and bid or make an offer prior, but it needs to be strong enough that the owner doesn't think they'll do better on the day.

If you're going to make a bid before auction, make sure you're ready to sign the contract and act quickly. There may be other buyers who have indicated to the agent that they want to be kept informed of any pre-auction offers that the vendor is likely to accept. In fairness to all parties who may have spent money on their enquiries and are preparing to bid at auction, the agent is obliged to inform them if the vendor has accepted an offer prior - verbally.
